

Marratooka South Preserve – Trail Map

Although only 1.9 acres, Marratooka South Preserve is a significant open space holding for the Town of Southold. While much of the parcel features wetlands, the uplands portion is home to a thriving prickly pear cactus population (a NYS-designated exploitably vulnerable species). Prickly pear cactus is the only cactus native to New York. The Preserve also provides access to Marratooka Lake and is a great birding hotspot during the winter.
